

Education Series

Parent Leadership Institute (PLI)

A grassroots education advocacy training program for parents. PLI blends the University of Georgia's Fanning Institute Community Leadership Program and New Organizing Institute curriculums as the core foundation of the training layered with education advocacy and school discipline reform tools.

Project teams implement a school-community project in their immediate school cluster designed to impact a feeder into the School to Prison Pipeline, ultimately improving the climate for learning in schools.

Understanding the School to Prison Pipeline

A presentation and panel discussion led by Gwinnett STOPP parent leaders which provides a more detailed view of the School to Prison Pipeline (STPP) issue. The presentation includes details of the local, state, and national data trends, interactive activities and audience questions. This workshop may be customized for your organization.

The trainings are designed to empower parents, care-givers and community members with information and tools to be better advocates for children. Contact us to schedule a workshop for your group.
