LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN & THE PRESIDENT

Dear Friends and Supporters,

Each year, Gallup conducts a survey asking the general public why our nation has low educational achievement rates in low-income communities. Each year, the public responds that the top three factors are: lack of student motivation, lack of parental involvement, and “home-life issues.”

In 2005, Teach For America surveyed its second-year corps members, asking them the same question. Based on their first-hand experience in urban and rural public schools, what do they believe are the causes and solutions of the achievement gap? Their top three factors: teacher quality, school leadership, and expectations of students. Our corps members are telling us that it is within our control as a nation to close the achievement gap — that we can, by strengthening our schools and school systems, provide all of our children with the opportunity to attain an excellent education.

To get there, we will need long-term, committed leadership in education to build our schools and school systems into high-performing institutions. And, we will need our policy makers — as well as the leaders in every sector who influence them — to deeply understand what these corps members understand and to make decisions based on those convictions.

These are the ideas that undergird Teach For America’s theory of change. We are building the movement to eliminate educational inequity by enlisting our country’s most promising future leaders in this effort. We ask them to commit two years to teach because we cannot afford to lose the generation growing up today. We know that the energy and leadership our corps members bring to their classrooms will help ensure that more of today’s students grow up with the opportunities they deserve.

At the same time, we know this two-year commitment will shape corps members’ career paths — as it has for more than 60% of Teach For America alumni who are still working full-time in education. Moreover, we know that other alumni will enter sectors outside of education with the rare insight and perspective they revealed in our survey, and that if we can reach the point when many of our country’s future leaders have these insights, we stand the chance to influence the very priorities and consciousness of this nation.

As you will see from this annual report, there is tremendous momentum at Teach For America. This year marked the fifth and final year of an ambitious growth plan; during that short time, we tripled in scale and impact. Yet, in our work, we cannot be satisfied — each day we see persistent educational disparities juxtaposed against enormous student potential. And so, we have recommitted ourselves to build a still more effective movement. In the coming five years, we aim to become the nation’s top employer of top recent college grads while maximizing the impact of our corps members and alumni as a force for change.

We thank all of you — our supporters from communities across the country — for all that you do to advance this cause. With your continued help, we will ensure that our nation lives up to its noble ideals.

Warm regards,

Walter Isaacson, Chairman of the Board of Directors

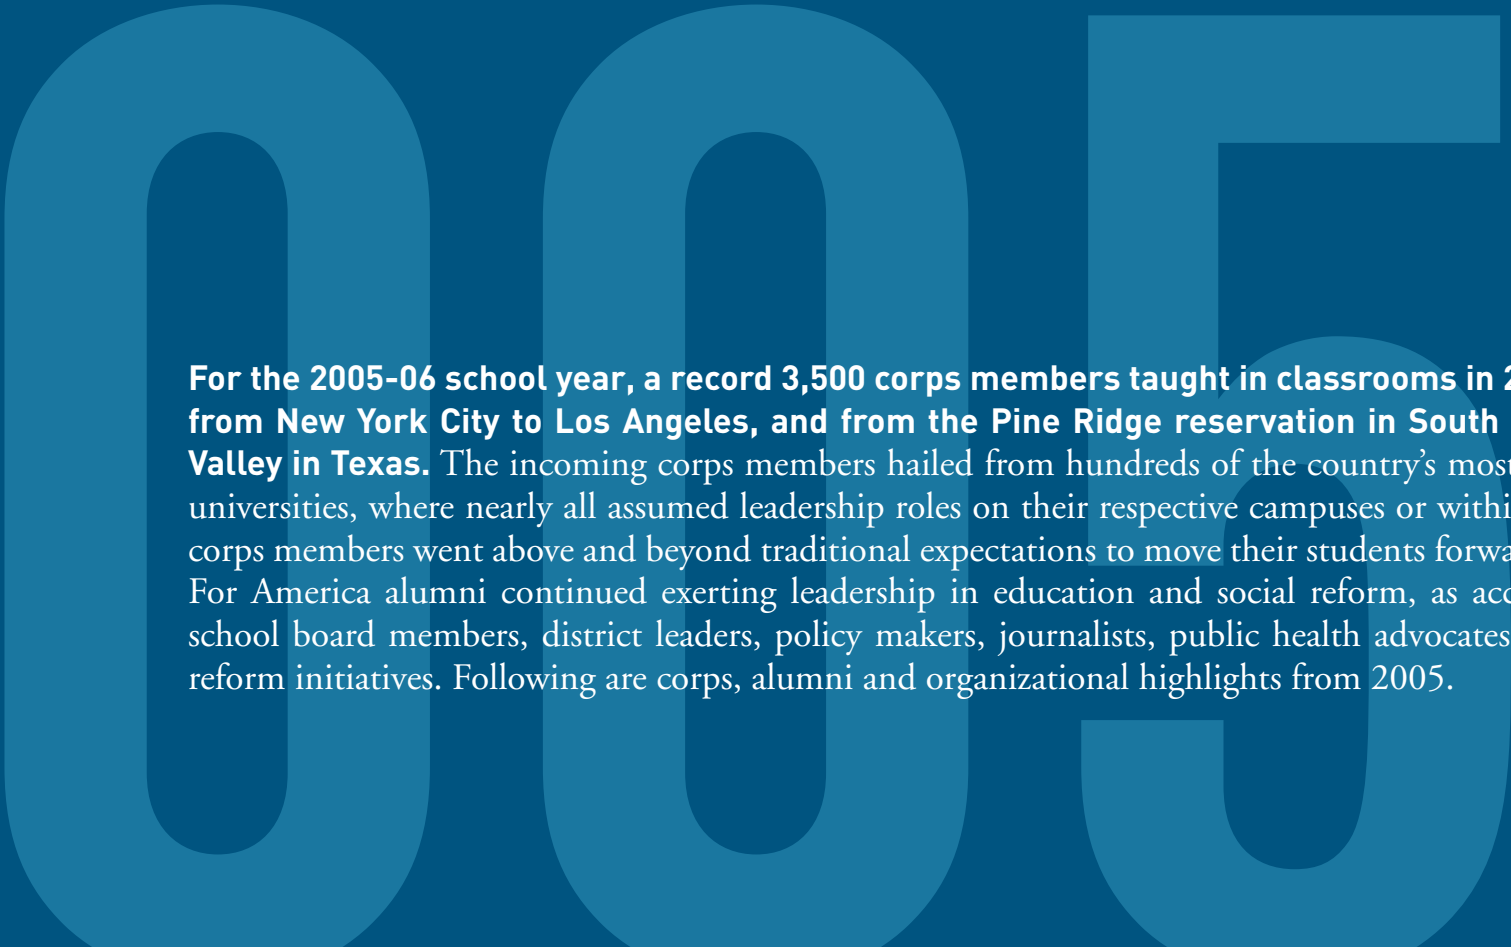

Wendy Kopp, President & Founder

A large, light blue, stylized number '2005' is positioned in the background, spanning across the middle of the page. The number is composed of thick, rounded strokes, giving it a modern and clean appearance. It serves as a visual anchor for the text, which is placed in front of it.

For the 2005-06 school year, a record 3,500 corps members taught in classrooms in 22 regions in communities from New York City to Los Angeles, and from the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota to the Rio Grande Valley in Texas. The incoming corps members hailed from hundreds of the country's most well-respected colleges and universities, where nearly all assumed leadership roles on their respective campuses or within their communities. While corps members went above and beyond traditional expectations to move their students forward, more than 10,000 Teach For America alumni continued exerting leadership in education and social reform, as acclaimed teachers, principals, school board members, district leaders, policy makers, journalists, public health advocates, and pioneers in education reform initiatives. Following are corps, alumni and organizational highlights from 2005.

Teach For America Announces Katrina Relief Corps

Given the devastation of Hurricane Katrina, Teach For America fielded its New Orleans corps to address the needs of students and families displaced by the storm. Thirty corps members moved to Houston to staff New Orleans West (NOW) College Prep — a partnership between KIPP, a network of high-performing charter schools, and Teach For America to serve students displaced from New Orleans. Despite the tremendous challenges imposed by dislocation, NOW College Prep, which was led by administrators of the KIPP school that served New Orleans and staffed chiefly by first- and second-year teachers, received the highest rating of any of KIPP's first-year schools nationwide.

To help the federal and state governments in meeting the need for leadership in the broader relief effort, Teach For America placed 27 corps members as directors, deputy directors, or applicant intake coordinators for Disaster Relief Centers, which were one-stop service centers for those displaced by Katrina.

Approximately 50 additional corps members worked in two parishes outlying New Orleans. In Jefferson Parish, corps members spent weeks cleaning and preparing schools and are now teaching in those classrooms full-time. Additionally, corps members in St. John the Baptist Parish taught full-time.

CORPS HIGHLIGHTS

South Louisiana Corps Members Tutor Hurricane Evacuees at Local Shelters

Following the devastation of Hurricane Katrina, Valerye Boles (South Louisiana Corps '04) and Kelley Tompkins (South Louisiana Corps '05) recognized a special need to provide tutoring services to evacuees. With over 1,000 new students relocating to Opelousas area schools in Saint Landry Parish, Valerye and Kelley found that many children were behind academically after missing several weeks of school as a result of the hurricane.

Rallying their fellow corps members to action, Valerye and Kelley focused on the two shelters that housed the most children, coordinated a regular tutoring schedule for corps members and made sure to include one teacher from each grade level at each session. Valerye and Kelley's team of corps members worked every day to ensure that the shelters were open during the four-week period. During that time, corps members noticed a significant change, not only in the students' academic work, but also in their eagerness to learn as their confidence markedly increased. Reflecting on the experience Valerye states, "We wanted to help the community and found that the best way we could do it was by doing exactly what we came here to do: teach."

Alumnus Jason Kamras (Washington, D.C. Corps '96) Named National Teacher of the Year

Jason Kamras, the 2005 National Teacher of the Year, teaches in Southeast D.C. in the same school where he began teaching as a corps member nine years ago. His commitment to public service as an undergraduate major in the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University led him to apply to Teach For America. Like most of our alumni, he was deeply influenced by his experience, so that what began as a two-year commitment grew into much more than that.

This was the first time in the contest's 53-year history that a teacher from the District of Columbia Public Schools was recognized.

Teach For America Alumnae Elected to School Boards

Two Teach For America alumnae, Natasha Kamrani (Houston Corps '91) and Layla Avila (Los Angeles Corps '97), were elected to school boards in Houston, Texas, and South Whittier, California, respectively. Of her plans as a new board member in the Houston Independent School District, Natasha told the Houston Chronicle: "I'm sticking with the same issues that brought me here...middle-school reform in order to address the issues of college readiness and the dropout rate. Setting more ambitious goals for what our children can achieve. We should be treating every one of our incoming students like they're college material." When asked about her campaign, Layla said she focused on "those who traditionally have been ignored by most candidates" and "rallied the community on a single issue — increasing student achievement."

Alumnus Shawadeim Reagans (New York City Corps '99) Wins New Jersey Teacher of the Year

Shawadeim Reagans, a founding teacher and assistant director of TEAM Academy, a public, nonprofit middle school in Newark, New Jersey, that is part of the KIPP school network, received the American Stars of Teaching award from the U.S. Department of Education, signifying him as the New Jersey Teacher of the Year. The American Stars of Teaching award is given to teachers who are improving student achievement, using innovative strategies, and making a difference in the lives of their students.

TEAM founder Ryan Hill (New York City Corps '99) said of Reagans: "Our kids would walk through fire for him. He is one of the best teachers I have ever watched in the classroom. The Department of Education could not have chosen a more deserving teacher for this award."

ORGANIZATION HIGHLIGHTS

Congressional Champions Float Bill for Federal Authorization of Annual Appropriation to Teach For America

The Senate and the House introduced bipartisan legislation to authorize federal funds of up to $25 million annually by 2010, which would enable Teach For America to grow to 8,000 corps members.

Senators Lamar Alexander (R-TN), Harry Reid (D-NV), Mike DeWine (R-OH) and Hillary Clinton (D-NY) led the effort in the Senate. Representatives Michael Castle (R-DE), Harold Ford (D-TN), Ralph Regula (R-OH), Tom Osborne (R-NE) and Chris Van Hollen (D-MD) led the effort in the House.

By the end of the year, the Senate education subcommittee had included Teach For America bill language in the Higher Education Act and was awaiting approval by the full chamber. Meanwhile, in the House, over 120 members had co-sponsored the legislation. We anticipate the Higher Education Act will reach the House floor in the summer of 2006.

2,000 Alumni Convene in D.C. for Teach For America's 15th Anniversary National Alumni Summit

In October, Teach For America's 15th Anniversary National Alumni Summit provided a forum for alumni and leaders from education, business, government, nonprofits, and a range of other sectors to reflect on what must be done to ensure educational excellence and equity in this country.

At the opening plenary, Assistant Secretary of Education Tom Luce and several Teach For America alumni shared their reflections and their greatest hopes for the movement to promote educational equity. Jeremy Beard (Los Angeles Corps '95), principal of IDEA College Prep, said, "We have to be lifelong advocates for the children. We cannot be afraid to tread in uncharted waters. We can see, 15 years later, evidence that the second part of Teach For America's mission is moving forward. We must be in the places of highest need. I am not finished. My hope is that you all feel the same."

During the day, alumni and other thought leaders from all sectors led panels on topics ranging from charter schools, teacher quality, and No Child Left Behind to using media to effect social change, superintendent pathways and high school reform. David Gergen, director of the Kennedy School's Center for Public Leadership, challenged the audience to consider political life; former NBA star Kevin Johnson shared his pioneering approach to community redevelopment; and Philadelphia School Superintendent Paul Vallas spoke of the need for fiscal equity among school districts.

After David Eisner, CEO of the Corporation for National and Community Service, opened the luncheon plenary, Time columnist Joe Klein moderated a moving discussion between Marian Wright Edelman, founder and CEO of the Children's Defense Fund, and the Honorable John Lewis, United States Representative from Georgia and civil rights activist. Edelman and Lewis shared their personal histories and reflections on their lifetime of commitment to social change.

In 2000, Teach For America created an ambitious five-year plan to grow its impact on eliminating educational inequity in this country. A retrospective look at the past five years reveals our significant progress in growing the size of our movement, while increasing our measurable impact on student achievement and doing more to foster the ongoing engagement of our alumni as a force for change. We have done this while building our financial sustainability, increasing our organizational capacity, and strengthening our brand and reputation.

In 2000 we received 4,000 applications. In 2005 we received 17,000 applications.

During that time we have grown from 1,000 corps members in 13 communities to 3,500 corps members in 22 communities.

In a radio address in 2005, National Public Radio called our recruitment strategy “absolutely brilliant marketing.”

While we await new studies of corps members' impact on student achievement, we are encouraged that our internal evaluation processes showed that, in 2005, 34% of corps members met the ambitious goal of advancing their students by at least 1.5 grade levels in a year's time – up from 13% in 2001.

At the same time, our alumni force doubled from 5,000 to 10,000. To cultivate the potential of our alumni as educational leaders, we created an Office of Career & Civic Opportunities, used by three-quarters of alumni job seekers to find opportunities in education reform.

Fueled by a sense of urgency to build an even more effective movement, we spent 2005 imagining the possibilities.

How far can we grow our impact by five years from now — the year 2010, our 20th year? Through an extensive process involving our staff, national board of directors, regional boards, and leading investors, we came together around an ambitious plan to grow to optimum scale while maximizing the impact of our corps members and alumni as a force for change.

2010 GROWTH PLAN: Building the Movement to Eliminate Educational Inequity

Each day we see the realities of educational inequity juxtaposed against concrete evidence that when students in low-income communities are given the opportunities they deserve, they excel. And so, we have resolved to be still bigger and better.

Priority: Grow to scale while increasing the diversity of the corps

Given the enormity of the problem we're addressing, we feel a moral imperative to grow. Every additional recruit is another corps member who has the potential to have a life-changing impact in the lives of children growing up today and another alumna/us who individually can be a lifelong leader for fundamental change. Moreover, "scale" magnifies our impact beyond what would be expected. Attaining critical mass within communities increases our leverage and fosters a sense of collective impact that motivates corps members and alumni to do still more. And, we believe reaching the point when many of our nation's future leaders have this experience in common will ultimately influence our national priorities and the prevailing ideology that undergirds policy and practice.

At the same time, we aim to increase the racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic diversity of our corps and organization. The problem we're addressing disproportionately impacts low-income communities and communities of color, and we believe that our collective, long-term efforts will be strongest if our corps, staff, and boards are inclusive of individuals who reflect these communities.

Priority: Maximize the impact of corps members on student achievement

Ensuring that corps members attain high levels of success with their students is the linchpin of our theory of change. This is what creates our short-term impact, and it is also the most important thing we can do to ensure our long-term impact – because highly successful corps members are most likely to learn the right lessons and complete their two years more committed to working for change.

Corps members effecting significant gains

Given the fact that the students we reach are often years behind those in more affluent areas, we work to ensure our corps members advance their students by at least 1.5 grade levels in one year, which we term “significant gains.”

Priority: Foster the leadership of our alumni as a force for change

While our alumni are likely to do great things even without Teach For America, we believe there is more we can do to help maximize their ongoing engagement and leadership in education and social reform. Therefore we will invest in fostering the career development and volunteer engagement of our alumni and in advancing their thinking about education and social reform.

Priority: Build an enduring American institution

While pursuing ambitious programmatic goals, we believe it is also important to ensure the sustainability and strength of our organization, so that we can thrive as long as the needs we are addressing persist. We aim to strengthen our organizational capacity, enlist our alumni in supporting our organization, build our brand awareness, and grow a very diversified funding base.

We are determined to maximize this window of opportunity at Teach For America

— this chance to build on all the momentum and all that has been learned to this point and to grow our impact exponentially over the coming years. If we can reach our goals, by 2010, we will reach more than 600,000 students each day, advancing their performance 1.5 grade levels on average in one year and becoming one of the largest interventions in our nation's public education systems. At the same time, we will build an unprecedented pipeline of educational leadership. And, by reaching the point where not just a few, but many, of our future leaders have the insight and conviction that comes from participating in Teach For America, we will stand a chance to change our country's very consciousness.

We've arrived at this critical point, and we aspire to such lofty goals, only because of the vital contributions of so many national and community leaders who believe in our vision and in this generation. Thank you for your continued support.

WE'RE CHANGING THINGS.

AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

September 30, 2005 and 2004

Independent Auditors' Report

The Board of Directors
Teach For America, Inc.:

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Teach For America, Inc. (TFA) as of September 30, 2005 and 2004, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of TFA's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of TFA's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Teach For America, Inc. as of September 30, 2005 and 2004, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audits were made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information included in schedule 1 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the 2005 basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the 2005 basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the 2005 basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

Years ended September 30, 2005 and 2004

(1) Nature of Operations

Teach For America, Inc. (TFA) was incorporated in the State of Connecticut on October 6, 1989 as a not for profit corporation dedicated to building a national corps of outstanding recent college graduates of all academic majors who commit two years to teach in under resourced urban and rural public schools and who become life long leaders in pursuit of expanding educational opportunity. TFA is exempt from Federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code.

TFA recruits and selects recent college graduates who meet high standards, trains them in an intensive summer program, places them in urban and rural school districts, and coordinates a support network for them during the two years they commit to teach. TFA also coordinates an alumni association to keep corps members connected to each other and to its mission.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

Net assets and revenues, expenses, gains, and losses are classified based on the existence or absence of donor imposed restrictions. Accordingly, net assets of TFA and changes therein are classified and reported as follows:

Unrestricted net assets – Net assets that are not subject to donor imposed stipulations. The amounts are segregated into the following categories based on the board of directors' designation:

Available for operations – The amount the board of directors has approved for spending in the operating budget;

Invested in fixed assets – Represents the net investment in plant assets; and

Board designated for reserve purposes – The amount the board of directors has approved for use as long term investment to provide an ongoing stream of investment income for selected activities such as expansion and program services and as a cash reserve, in the event TFA experiences a cash shortfall. The primary source of funds comes from the expansion plan campaign to double the size of TFA's teaching corps (see note 3).

Temporarily restricted net assets – Net assets subject to donor imposed stipulations that will be met either by actions of TFA and/or the passage of time.

Permanently restricted net assets – Net assets subject to donor imposed stipulations to be maintained permanently for endowment purposes by TFA. The income derived from permanently restricted net assets is available for general purposes.

Revenues are reported as increases in unrestricted net assets unless their use is limited by donor imposed restrictions. Expenses are reported as decreases in unrestricted net assets. Gains and losses on investments and other assets or liabilities are reported as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law. Expirations of temporary restrictions on net assets (i.e., the donor stipulated purpose has been fulfilled and/or the stipulated time period has elapsed) are reported as net assets released from restrictions.

Operations

Operations include all unrestricted revenue and expenses, including net assets released from restrictions during the year, except for net assets that are designated by the board of directors for reserve purposes.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing TFA's program and supporting services have been summarized on a functional basis in the accompanying statements of activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the program and supporting services benefited. The following is a description of the program categories of TFA:

Teacher Recruitment and Selection

TFA recruits and selects a teaching corps of recent college graduates to teach the nation's most underserved students. The recruitment and selection process consists of scheduling and attending on- and off campus recruitment events, processing applications (approximately 17,000 in 2005 and 14,000 in 2004), and conducting daylong interview sessions in multiple sites across the country. TFA had approximately 2,250 and 1,650 new corps members in 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Pre Service Institute

For incoming corps members, TFA conducts intensive summer training institutes held on university campuses. In 2005, institutes were held at three campuses; University of Houston, Temple University, and California State University, Long Beach. As part of TFA's ongoing relationship with the Houston Independent School District, the New York City Department of Education, and Los Angeles Unified School District, corps members teach students who are enrolled in Houston's, Philadelphia's, and Los Angeles' public summer school programs.

Placement, Professional Development, and Other

TFA places corps members in various urban and rural regions of the United States. In each region, TFA has regional offices, which are responsible for placing corps members in schools, monitoring their progress throughout the two year commitment, providing opportunities for ongoing professional development, and helping corps members to feel part of a national corps. In 2005 and 2004, TFA placed corps members in 22 regions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash and short term investments purchased with original maturities of three months or less, which are not under investment management for long term purposes.

Investments

Investments are carried at fair value based upon published market prices. Donated securities are measured at fair value at the date of the contribution.

Grants and Contributions

Grants and contributions, including unconditional promises to give, are reported as revenues in the period received or pledged. Contributions to be received after one year are discounted at a risk free rate. Amortization of the discount is recorded as additional contribution revenue in accordance with the donor imposed restrictions, if any, on the contribution. Federal grants receivable at September 30, 2005 are expected to be collected during fiscal year 2006. Contributions of assets other than cash, including goods and services, are recorded at their estimated fair value.

Fixed Assets

Computer equipment and software and furniture, fixtures, and office equipment are recorded at cost and depreciated on a straight line basis over an estimated useful life of three to five years. Leasehold improvements are amortized over their economic life or term of the lease, whichever is shorter.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingencies at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(3) Contributions Receivable

Contributions receivable at September 30, 2005 and 2004 are scheduled to be collected as follows:

	2005	2004
Less than one year	$ 12,880,484	10,138,918
One to four years	15,188,001	4,159,446
	28,068,485	14,298,364
Less discount to present value ranging from 3.125% to 3.875%	(1,188,287)	(303,321)
	$ 26,880,198	13,995,043

In a campaign to expand the corps, TFA raised approximately $24 million in commitments, to be collected through 2005. At September 30, 2005, approximately $2.9 million of the $24 million raised remains as a contribution receivable. The purpose of the expansion campaign was to double the size of the teaching corps, which was 1,689 corps members during fiscal 2000 and has increased to 3,026 corps members at September 30, 2005. TFA has increased its infrastructure to recruit and train this larger group. In addition, for the years ended September 30, 2005 and 2004, the funds raised in the expansion campaign have allowed the board of directors to designate an additional $1,938,077 and $1,519,397, respectively, of the funds released to unrestricted for reserve purposes.

As part of this agreement, TFA would administer this program and be responsible for contracting with and administering payments to the institutions from funds received from the NYCDOE. As of September 30, 2005 and 2004, TFA had receivables from the NYCDOE of $0 and $965,312, respectively; and payables to the institutions associated with this contract for $225,850 and $1,015,162, respectively.
